

General: What kind of "support" can I expect?

Information Systems Support is responsible for the installation of all APS computer systems, network equipment, printers and software. ISS will troubleshoot computer problems and either repair or provide information on repair services for hardware. ISS does not have the resources to provide extensive hardware repair services.

Author: David Wallis

Last update: 2004-08-09 13:16